

ASSISTANT OR ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR IN CLINICAL GEROPSYCHOLOGY
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

The Department of Psychology in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (Los Angeles, CA) invites applications for a tenured Associate Professor or a tenure track Assistant Professor position with an anticipated start date of Fall 2017. We seek applicants doing leading-edge research in clinical geropsychology. We encourage applicants whose research entails older adult populations, including clinical health psychology, health disparities, cultural and diversity issues, clinical neuropsychology, clinical neuroscience, couple and family issues, developmental psychopathology, or evaluation of interventions. The USC clinical program emphasizes clinical science and is one of the first programs in the nation to receive PCSAS accreditation. There are opportunities to work across disciplines in the university's commitment to addressing the problem of aging and dementia. All applicants are required to have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment. In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <http://jobs.usc.edu/postings/75303> . The applicant should upload cover letter, CV, research statement, representative scholarly papers, and the names of three referees who will be contacted by USC. Please send any inquiries to Professor Beth Meyerowitz at psychsearch@dornsife.usc.edu . Screening of applicants will begin November 1, 2016.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu .